JESSE WARREN

FOR CITY CLERK

As will be noted in the announcement column of the News Jesse Warren is a candidate for the office of city clerk. Jesse is among the early settlers of Ada and all know him to be a young man of steady and industrious habits. He is no stranger to the duties of this office, he having served in the capacity of city recorder during the years of 1906 and 1907. He was first appointed by the council to fill out the unexpired term of his father, who died shortly after being elected, and gave such general satisfaction that he was elected the following year over two or three strong opponents. When he held the office its duties also included the assessing and collecting of the city taxes, but as stated above, he filled the office with credit and efficiency. Hence he has no hesitancy in asking the public to investigate his record as an officer before casting their ballots.

Oklahoma State Bank a Depository. Yesterday's Oklahoman stated that the Oklahoma State Bank has been designated a state depository. This is a well deserved compliment to the conservative management of that institution, for this bank has always been recognized as one of the strongest and most popular banks of this section.

J. A. Hamilton of Marissa, Ill., president of the Ada Electric and Gas Co., arrived Saturday afternoon on business of the company. It is noticeable that he always seems pleased to get back to Ada.

LEGISLATIVE

FORECAST

SLIM PROBABILITY OF SPECIAL SESSION—SESSION MAY BE PROLONGED—ANOTHER WEEK.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 26.—The general impression is the legislature will not be able to adjourn sine die until March 10 or 12, although a concurrent resolution has been adopted fixing March 4 as the date.

Aside from the general and deficiency appropriation bills, and bills affecting congressional, legislative and judicial districts, members believe the state would not suffer by an adjournment immediately following completion of these measures.

The idea that a special session will be necessary is rapidly losing ground. Members of the senate have assurance that the congressional bill establishing the ratio of membership will be put through the senate this week, which would enable the state to make its apportionments. Those indulging the hope that the congressional apportionment bill may be put through the Oklahoma legislature in a few days are also figuring upon rapidly arriving at the adjourning time.

There are a number of prospective candidates for congress in both branches of the legislature who have no idea of yielding their preferences without a contest, and those who have observed the redistricting figures in the past know what this means.

March 4, the date set for adjournment, marks a reduction in legislative pay from $6 to $2 per day.

The prohibition law amendments are in conference, the senate committee consisting of Senators Thompson, Horton and McCully, and the house committee consisting of Messrs Williams of Comanche, Anthony and Maxey.

Other than appropriation bills, the house will give right of way, it is believed, to the Board of Education bill, which is one of Gov. Cruce's recommendations, while the senate during the week will complete the county assessors' bill, probably the school land sale bill and the deficiency appropriation bills.

OFFICERS INTERRUPT

QUIET CARD GAME

Saturday night Patrolmen Harris and Eaton, armed with a search warrant, made an examination of Joe Landers' rooming house over the Texas Department Store to see if any gaming was going on. They found nine men in one of the rooms, but no gambling was going on at the time. The officers captured a number of decks of cards, however. Last night they had a little better luck. They effected an entrance by means of a ladder placed on the awning in front of the store and caught four men in a game. A number of others were in the room but were not in the game.

Some Fine Chickens.

L. E. Hutchison, who lives near Oakman, was in town Saturday with a pen of his fine Plymouth Rock chickens. They were about as fine as one ever sees anywhere. He sold the pen to J. M. Taylor for $10. People are beginning to realize the value of good chickens.

W. F. McKaskle of Sasakwa, who was here on business and on a visit to W. M. Cummings, returned home this morning.

Practitioners from two local schools will operate. Chiropractors want a law by the legislature recognizing their school of practice. The Williams bill, which passed the senate eliminates chiropractors as well as Christian Scientists, under certain conditions named, while the Cornell bill in the house creates a board of examiners composed entirely of chiropractors.

CAPITOL COMMISSION WILL RESIGN TODAY

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 26.—Boone Williams of Lehigh, member of the Oklahoma State Capitol Commission, has announced that the resignations of himself and Tate Brady of Tulsa and Dr. Leo Bennett of Muskogee, the other members of the commission, have been prepared and will be presented to Gov. Cruce Monday.

Mr. Williams refused to make any statement other than to confirm the report that the Board of Commissioners will resign.

A telephone conversation with Tate Brady at Tulsa failed to elicit any further information. "I have been out of the state for some time and just returned," said Brady. "If Boone Williams says we have resigned, it is true and I will stand by it." Gov. Cruce stated that he had not been apprised of the intentions of the committee.

It is understood, however, that the reason the Commissioners will offer in explanation of their action is that they are "sick and tired" of the incessant wrangling and trouble experienced since the commission was first created.

Gov. Cruce is opposed to the idea of a special commission to conduct the business incident to building the new state house. He contends the state board of affairs should properly have charge of this work. Brady, Bennett and Williams were appointed by Gov. Haskell immediately following the act of the legislature locating the capital in Oklahoma City.

A bill to abolish the commission has already passed the upper house of the legislature.

The antagonism on the part of Gov. Cruce and the state lawmakers is believed to be responsible for the commissioners tendering their resignations.

ROBBERS BLOW SAFE OF BANK AT MEAD

Durant, Okla., Feb. 25.—The First State bank of Mead, six miles west of Durant, was wrecked by three yeggmen and the safe looted of $1,500 at an early hour Saturday morning.

The robbers fired nearly a dozen charges and were at work more than an hour.

The entire town was aroused but all but two of the citizens obeyed the commands of the guards who ordered every one to remain indoors.

A. W. Moore, hotel keeper, opened fire at long range with a Springfield rifle and when one shot penetrated the building and hit the safe the crackman rushed to the street but was ordered back to his task by the guards who declared they were capable of coping with the citizens.

Cashier Vern Marple also opened fire at long range. The yeggs escaped on foot going north and were not pursued.

All wires had been cut and Sheriff Hamilton of Durant, was not notified until after daylight. One suspect is in jail here.

Auto Day at Ada.

Yesterday certainly deserves the name of auto day. From morning until late in the evening a continuous procession of machines filled with joy riders passed up and down the various streets until a stranger would have thought that there were at least 100 autos in Ada. N. B. Staff had intended to take a photo of the machines in the afternoon but as four more machines are expected this week he granted the request to wait until next Sunday when the entire bunch can be caught at once.

You can sell used musical instruments through classified advertising. Most of them are sold in this way. There's always a probable buyer reading the ads.

WHY THE NEWS SUPPORTS HOUNSHELL.

In a town like Ada the Chief of Police is the most important officer in the city government. When a town is still in its formative state all classes of citizenship gather and it is a question of doing all in one's power to so regulate affairs that the more desirable element will be attracted to a place and the criminally inclined forced to move on instead of finding a haven of refuge.
One thing is certain, if the tough element predominates no town can hope to attract the class of people that is needed in making it the prosperous center of industry that in this age is the hope of all communities.
Property values depend on the reputation a place has and the idea that a town must be more or less wide open in defiance of all laws has long been exploded.

As we have often remarked before Ada is now at the critical point of its career as a town. It is soon to be determined whether it will join the procession and take the lead among the dozen real cities that will grow from the scattered towns of Oklahoma or whether it will continue to be only a big overgrown village.

Hence the importance of electing a chief of police who will enforce every ordinance on the books of the city fairly and impartially, making it so uncomfortable for the element that has no regard for the laws of the land that it will seek a more congenial climate. In this connection this paper, having always stood for the preservation of law and order, gives its unqualified endorsement to R. N. Hounsshell. He has done much to make Ada a better town and deserves the support of all who desire to see Ada improve morally.

The News knows that efforts have been made to induce others to enter the race simply that his vote may be cut down, but for once we think the law and order element is sufficiently united to prevent the consummation of any such move.

LIKEWISE AT ADA.

"We Do," is the motto selected by the Oklahoma City boosters. It is now in order for some wicked Guthererlette to suggest that should be expanded so as to read: "We Do You While You Wait."

The many friends of Hon. John P. Crawford, the stable and qualified representative from Pontotoc county, are urging him to run for congress. Mr. Crawford has risen to a high rank since becoming identified with our lower law-making body, and will make a strong candidate if he should consent to make the race.— Allen Hustler.

Yesterday's issue of the Tulsa World was a hummer and no mistake. It contained fifty-six pages every one of which was chuck full of live boosting for Tulsa and the state of Oklahoma. The growth of the city during the decade of its existence was well illustrated by two pictures, one showing a log cabin on the banks of the river, while the other was of the skyscrapers which compose the business district today. The World is one of the best papers in Oklahoma and we congratulate it on its enterprise.

A LIVING TRAGEDY.

A six line death notice in an exchange had little meaning to the majority of the readers of that paper, but to me it came as a message that meant the last chapter in a tragedy that had extended through a long series of years. The notice only stated that Mrs. Margaret X, the wife of Richard X, had died the day before after a short illness.

Instantly my thoughts traveled backward over the long vista of years that have intervened since I knew Margaret as a happy care-free school girl, the most popular in the school.
The only child of fairly well-to-do parents, the girl had been given all the advantages that are found in a home where love reigns and refinement prevails. I recall the evening of her graduation when as valedictorian of her class she was the recipient of all the honors admiring friends could heap upon her. Everybody predicted a bright future for the girl and none could foresee the nightmare that her life was destined to become.

It is the same old story of the girl who loved not wisely but too well.
Although her admirers were numbered by the score, she was won by Richard X, one of the polished type of profligates who infest every town and who on account of their family connections are received in polite society. In spite of earnest remonstrances of her parents and friends she married the well dressed loafer, confident that by the power of her love she could win him over to the paths of rectitude and habits of industry.

Her father, determined to make the best of the situation, gave her husband opportunities in business that would have made a man of a different type a millionaire. However, it was of no avail. The card table had more attraction for him than his business and the saloon and riotous companions held a greater charm for him than the quiet of a comfortable home and the company of a loving and refined wife. He was so utterly devoid of moral sense and the true had shared his lot that he was absogreat prize he had drawn in the lotsquander the greater part of the property of his wife's parents, and when they died broken hearted, he made short work of the little that was left.

A few years ago I chanced to visit the old town where they still lived. I happened upon Dick among a crowd of street loafers. Shabbily clad, bleary eyed and repulsive in the extreme, he bore little resemblance to the man who had led the fair Margaret to the altar. I was informed that it had been years since he had made any pretense of doing steady work.

I passed the hovel which they called home. The woman I saw there bore not a trace of resemblance to the lovely girl I had known in school.
All her beauty had been consumed by the cares of life; her buoyant spirits had given place to the blackest despair; her clothing was tattered and around her clustered four ragged children who scarcely knew what a full meal meant. Life to them had been nothing but suffering and it would have been impossible for them to realize that there was such a thing as happiness to be found on earth. Upon their mother's delicate shoulders had fallen the burden of providing for their wants, but in spite of her long struggle her case was utterly hopeless and she must have shuddered at the thought of what was to become of her children when her sufferings should be ended by

And after all, has the final chapter of this tragedy been written? The children still live. With the environthey escape, or will the final chap-

They have suffered from the mis-

Educational Interests at Southern Commercial Congress.

Nearly every university or college in the South is arranging to be represented at the meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress in Atlanta to hear the address of Chancellor Houston, of Washington University, Missouri, on "The South's Educational Obligation." In many instances whole classes of students have been excused so that the faculty and student body may attend, and in some states the Agricultural Colleges have given three days holiday so that those who desire to hear the addresses of the Secretary of Agriculture and other government agricultural experts may attend on the opening day, March 8, as well as on the last day, March 10, when Dr. Houston will speak. Dr. Houston who is a native of South Carolina, graduated from South Carolina College and afterwards from Harvard University. He has held the position of superintendent of the city school in Spartans-burg, South Carolina, Dean in the University of Texas, President of the University of Texas and in 1908 was elected Chancellor of Washington University, Missouri, which position he now holds.

Others on the program to speak on educational subjects are Hon. T. H.
Harris, state superintendent of public instruction, Baton Rouge, La., whose subject is "Taxes as Related to Education"; Dr. S. C. Mitchell, president of the University of South Carolina, who speaks on "Education for Constructive Leadership, State and National"; and Dr. Carleton B.
Gibson, president of the Mechanics Institute, Rochester, New York, formerly organizer of the Columbus (Ga.) Technical schools.

The closing day of the meeting, March 10, will be devoted to a discussion of "The South's Higher Thought," under five heads as follows:
"In National Life" responded to by the president of the United States;
"In Law," by the Hon. Jacob M.
Dickinson, Secretary of War; "In Education" by Chancellor Houston of Washington University, Mo.; "In Citizenship," by Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, and "In Business" by William G. McAdoo, president of the Hudson River Tube System.

Many universities and commercial bodies are chartering Pullman cars so that they may come in a body, while others are forming automobile parties, decorating them with their college colors and streamers and in other ways making known the identity of their alma mater. Edwin L.
Quarles, the secretary of the Southern Commercial congress has established headquarters at the Piedmont hotel, in Atlanta, where he is attending to all details looking forward to the comfort of all students who desire to attend.

HOPE ETERNAL

Springs in the Breasts of Monarchs Cast from Thrones.

Nearly every dethroned monarch looks for a restoration. It is one of the idiosyncrasies of les rois en exil.
The blind old King George V. of Hanover, whose dominions were an-nexed by Prussia after the war of 1866, looked confidently for the recovery of his throne until the day when he died in Paris, twelve years later. Although the kingdom of Naples was absorbed by that of United Italy in 1861, King Francis II. of Naples lived in almost daily expectation of a recall to his dominions until his death in 1895. He declined to purchase a residence in Paris, and insisted upon living in a hotel there, with his trunks half packed, so as to be ready at a moment's notice to respond to the summons of his former lieges.

King Manuel, therefore, may well be excused if he hesitates, for some months to come, about establishing himself definitely anywhere. The house which he has just taken at Wimbledon, in the southwestern suburbs of London, is only leased, with its furniture, by the month. Only when he purchases for himself a residence in some one of those capitals that offer hospitality and refuge to fallen kings, will his sympathizers abandon further hope of the ultimate success of their cause and his.—

It Does Pay to Know The Stores!

So great a part of every income is spent in stores, that it would seem that, next to "mankind," "the proper study of mankind is—stores!"

To the readers of the ads, the stores take on individual characters—they become familiar—they come to be UNDERSTOOD. The value-giving "habits" of each store—and the service rendered by each—are known, and rightly valued.

The ad-reader knows an exaggerated statement by an educated instinct; and an ad that comes even to the borderline of misrepresentation is a species of store-suicide.

Every merchant appreciates the NECESSI-TY of "making good" every advertised price concession—as well as the further NECESSI-TY of making price concessions that are real enough and notable enough to make the store's advertising WORTH answering!

Thus the readers of ads keep in touch with ALL buying opportunities in the store of the city that make for economy in the home expenses—and, thus to "know the stores" DOES PAY!

Some unthinking people may confuse you by arguing that the store which has no "advertising expense," can sell more cheaply! You know, however, that—excluding advertising expense—all stores have certain fixed expenses in common. These include rents, lights and heat, clerks and employees. These expenses have to be EARNED. The store that makes but a hundred sales a day must earn these expenses through the profits on these 100 sales. The store that by adding something to these fixed expenses by advertising, makes 500 sales a day, may prosper on a smaller per-sale profit! Would you rather pay one hundredth part of a fixed sum—or one five hundredth part?

FOR CONSTIPATION.

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless it Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Gwin & Mays Drug Company.

How one man fooled his wife

She had been using her "favorite" baking powder. Wouldn't think of trying anything else, because "mother always used it," or some similar excuse. Hubby said she was prejudiced. He figured if Calumet, the new baking powder, selling at a moderate price, could be so successful, there must be some good in it. So he took a hand, and bought a can of Calumet, emptied the can containing her "favorite" baking powder and filled it with Calumet.

That evening, unsuspecting the trick, Wifey prepared and served some of her famous biscuit— piping hot, temptingly browned and puffed up to airy lightness, they were even more delicious than usual. Hubby, after considerable difficulty, succeeded in convincing her that the basis of the improvement was Calumet Baking powder. And so an everlasting friend for Calumet was made.

This truthful little incident simply proves that the housewife is oftentimes prejudiced against all baking powders except the one she has been using for years. She imagines that no other kind can possibly be as good. This is a mistaken impression. A trial of Calumet will prove that it is purer, more reliable; it has a greater leavening power than any other baking powder made. And it is moderate in price.

More Oil Struck Near Sapulpa.

Sapulpa, Okla., Feb. 26.—A flow of 1,400 gallons of oil a day was struck at 6 o'clock Sunday night in Well No. 2 of the Thirteen Oil Company, after it had been practically decided by the drillers in the morning that the well was not going to pan out.

The flow came from the ground only 300 feet from where a flow of 600 barrels a day was struck Saturday by the Producers' Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard corporation and only a few rods from the first well of the Number Thirteen company, which has been running a steady flow of 1,400 barrels a day for the last month.

Oil promoters in this section are intensely interested in the finding, which has come of the most peculiar incidents in oil well drilling. The oil does not flow as it does usually, pushed upward by gaseous pressure but comes in a steady stream.
